We are so proud.

Here at Hana Tropicals, we foster a work exchange environment. We host motivated young individuals --from all over the world-- to come to our farm and learn the critical lessons of respecting the land and embracing a sustainable lifestyle. These wonderful volunteers live on our little slice of paradise with us, in exchange for extremely hard, rewarding and educational work. Every single person becomes a permanent member of the Hana Tropicals 'ohana.

Over the years we have hosted countless devoted interns who have learned how to grow their own food, memorized every variety of plant on our farm, and given their all to harvesting and sending off flower arrangements to people like you, all over the country.

Thank you to all of our wonderful workers – we appreciate you so very much! We are lucky to know you and blessed to have you in our lives.

Mālama 'Āina

Care for the land, and the land will care for you.

Yesterday was Earth Day, and we celebrated as we do every day – by treating the land with as much love and gratitude as we have to give.

Earth Day is such a wonderful reminder that it is good to give back to Mother Earth so that generations to come will be taken care of in the same way that we are. This week – plant a seed or a tree. Let us reflect on what we can do to help preserve our environment, and how magnificent Earth truly is.

MAHALO TO ALL THE MOTHERS OUT THERE...
WE OWE IT ALL TO YOU
