Aloha Week is upon us

The annual Aloha Festival is coming up! Every year Hana Tropicals donates hundreds of flowers and tons of hours towards the decoration of the events. We adorn the event tents and arrange flowers throughout the week to celebrate the festivities. The week begins on October 6th with a massive parade, where we love showing off our gorgeous flowers atop the infamous yellow jeep. The Hana community coming together to celebrate the spirit of Aloha is something you won't want to miss --- Schedule below!

ALOHA WEEK IN HĀNA

Hawaii's 2018 Festivals of Aloha fittingly culminate with an action-packed agenda in heavenly Hāna--lots of hula and Hawaiian music--all happening at one of the most authentic, unspoiled locations in the world. Hāna town comes together through these week-long festivities. Beginning the celebration with a parade through Hāna town, our culture, traditions and love of this land will proudly be on display!

Employee of the Month

Claire Murray is the one you have to thank for the incredible tour experience at Hana Tropicals. She not only harvests and sorts flowers all morning, but makes the experience unforgettable when you stop by to visit the farm. Claire's favorite tropical flower is the yellow heliconia and her favorite spot in Hana is the bay at sunset. Let's give it up for Claire!

Don't forget about our...
